The Teachers Learning Together (TLT) Initiative is in its fifth year of implementation and the momentum is going strong with over 550 teachers in the Ingham ISD service area participating. The Initiative is facilitated by Dr. Kevin Feldman, an international education consultant. Teachers and administrators from different districts are coming together to collaborate and work toward the common goal of engaging all students.

In addition to the TLT training, Dr. Feldman has facilitated five Learning Walks hosted by local schools over the last three years. The Learning Walks provide opportunities for teachers to observe each other and receive feedback on instruction.

The response to Feldman's workshops has been extremely positive. Here's what one teacher said:

"I have been in several teachers classrooms this year and you (Feldman) have made a significant impact on EVERY one of them. Teachers are sharing ideas, using your suggestions, and improving their instruction. Every day kids are receiving better instruction as a result of your work!"

There is no charge for Ingham ISD service area districts participating in the Block Fee. There is a $100/person charge for all other registrants.

To register for the TLT training, go to pd.inghamisd.org. To register a team for the Learning Walks, contact Rae Zieger Conrad at rzconrad@inghamisd.org or 517.244.1282 and include team member names and emails addresses.
